around Kenali, which also fell into French hands.

Fighting in some places was very desperate, the men being up to the

HUGHES LEAD BACK TO FOUR HUNDRED IN MINNESOTA RACE

Returns From Important Counties
Will Be Officially Tabulated
Today.

(By Associated Press)

St. Paul, Nov. 16.—With the Hughes lead back to its old place in the three hundreds, democratic experts watch closely today the tabulation of Hennepin county returns by officials at Minneapolis, and possibly of Ramsey county returns at St. Paul. The latest unofficial returns from Hennepin county showed a decided gain for Mr.
Hughes over his votes previously announced, but they had not been completely counted in the total.

President Wilson throughout the state with forty-six counties whose returns have been tabulated at the capital, and forty unofficially, polled 177, 756 to Mr. Hughes' 175,183, making the Hughes margin 387. More county sheets are expected today. There are still missing forty, including Ramsey and Hennepin.

Latest returns with two counties missing show that Frank E. Kellogg, in the race for United States senator, carried eighty out of the eighty-six counties. W. G. Calderwood, prohibitionist, polled more votes in thirty-five counties than did W. W. Lawler, the Democratic candidate. Several counties have not made official or unofficial returns on Calderwood. The latest total, Lawler 98,967; Kellogg, 170,193; Caldwell, 67,834.

Afternoon Reports.

Hughes made a slight net gain in Minnesota today through corrected unofficial vote in Houston county and the auditor's sheet from four other counties. The four added thirty-eight to the Wilson total and thirty to the Hughes, but the Wilson unofficial vote in Houston was reduced from 794 to 42,
744. The totals are now stood: Wilson,
177,756; Hughes, 178,213.

Hughes plurality 429.

Hennepin county's official tabulation sheet was not yet been made up, but the final change is expected from the unofficial figures, as only one precinct was missing from the official returns and the unofficial reports from that precinct were strongly in favor of Wilson.

BIG ARMY MANEUVER BEGINS AT BORDER

(By Associated Press)

Brownsville, Nov. 16.—The National Guard of nine states and seven regular army organizations today began what army officers declared to be the most extensive army maneuver of offensive since the coming of the National Guard to the Mexican border.

The maneuver is not expected to be completed in March in less than two months. Twenty-five thousand troops about equally divided, one to be known as the "Brown army" and the other as the "White army" are taking part.

The maneuver is part of the regular course of instruction, and includes individual regiments and brigade maneuvers, four day "drakes" and skirting, which was ordered by

Brigadier General Parker, commanding the Brownsville district. The invading force—the "Brown army"—is to try to wrest a large section of territory known as the "Lower Rio Grande valley" from the "White army," which is to be advanced in the neighborhood of Laredo Grande, forty miles west of Brownsville.

The "Brown army" is representing a theoretical foreign power intervening in Mexico, and last night invading the United States at Point Isle, then marching to Brownsville, departed toward San Benito, nineteen miles north. There an advanced brigade of the defending "White army" awaited the invaders.

It took the "Brown" troops four hours of steady marching to clear Brownsville. They will camp eight miles north of here tonight, renewing their advance on the "White" brigade
Friday morning.

PORTO RICO ENVOY, POLITICIAN, DEAD

(By Associated Press)

San Juan, Porto Rico, Nov. 16.—Luis Munoz Rivera, for six years Porto Rican resident and founder and leader of the Unionist party in Porto Rico, died last night. He was born fifty-eight years ago. Senior Rivera had been ill since adjournment of congress and recently underwent an operation. For thirty years he took a prominent part in Porto Rico affairs.
In the Spanish days he was frequently placed in jail for opposing the government, finally as a result of his efforts he won large degree of autonomous government for Island, becoming president of the cabinet shortly before the Spanish-American war.

Recently Senior Rivera had advocated in congress, American citizenship for Porto Ricans as well as plans for greater self government.

(By Associated Press)

Milwaukee, Nov. 16.—"I suspect potatoes are being peeled with safety razors, this year, judging from my observations," said Charles L. Davis, superintendent of the crematory, today. "The feelings are so thin you can read a newspaper through them. The eyes seemingly are left in the tubers. It is a fact, there is far less vegetable waste at the crematory now than in past years, or at this time a year."

The high price of foodstuffs may be a disguised blessing, it reaches the housewife to omy is the first consideration."

MAKES FINE SHOWING

SUPT. WHIPPLE CUTS DOWN EXPENSES AT INSTITUTION THROUGH ABLE MANAGEMENT.

ASK NO APPROPRIATION

Substantial Balance Remaining in Fund Makes It Unnecessary to Secure Customary Allotment.

Through the able management of Superintendent C. S. Whipple at the county asylum and poor farm, assisted by the matron, Mrs. Whipple, the expenses of the institution have been cut $5,000 during the past year, according to the report of the board of trustees which was read at the Wednesday afternoon meeting of the county commissioners. The report was presented by A. M. Church, retiring member of the board of trustees.

No Appropriation Needed.
With a substantial balance in the treasury the trustees will not find it necessary to ask the county board for the customary appropriation. In this connection Mr. Whipple says:

"The balance on hand July 1, 1916, of something over $13,000 to the credit of the asylum and poor farm is very gratifying and assuming that the approximate receipts and expenditures will be relatively the same for the ensuing year, the board of trustees feel confident that with the balance of the appropriation of the $15,000 asked for at the November session in 1915 (or $16,000) credited to the asylum and poor farm fund it will not be necessary to ask for any further appropriation for the ensuing year."

The following statement contained in the report shows the financial condition of the asylum and poor farm funds:

Receipts.
Balance on hand June 30, 1915 . . . . . $4,282.05
Appropriation by the County Board . . . . . 18,000.00

Deposited by Supt. C. S. Whipple . . . . . 8,572.88
Disbursements . . . . . $27,926.18

Balance . . . . . $15,396.39

Whipple's Report Presented.

Superintendent Whipple read his report at yesterday's board session. It showed that the population of the asylum remained practically unchanged during the past year, the total number in the institution on July 1st, last, being 159—79 men and 71 women—as compared with a total of 149 a year ago. The total amount received from the state for the board of patients during the year was $11,001.43 and $16,282 from other sources.

Those remained in the almshouse on July 1st, according to Mr. Whipple's report, 81 persons—51 men and 30 women. The total population for the year was 183—79 men and 39 women. There were sixteen deaths in the almshouse during the year and 95 persons were discharged.

Number of meals daily furnished the inmates of the poor house during the fiscal year are registered as belonging to the several towns, cities, and villages as follows:

Janesville, 2,182; Beloit, 1,508; Port-er, 104; Clinton, 104; Edgerton, 52; Racine, 52; La Prairie, 52; Richfield, 52; Evansville, 52; St. Paul, 52; Hanover, 52; Fulton, 32; Total, 4,316.

Mr. Whipple's report showed sub-stantial returns had been gained from products raised on the farm, the production being summarized as follows:

3,875 pounds of dressed beef; 11,887 pounds of dressed pork; 1,000 pounds of dressed veal; 500 pounds of milk, butter, eggs, potatoes, garden vegetables and fruits of a total estimated at $8,506.39 have been produced on the farm and consumed.

SEEKS RAY OF HOPE

"Can a Man Come Back?" is Wall of Former Edgerton Minister from Hospital Cot in Bridewell.

Reverend William A. Leighton, former minister of the gospel at Edgerton, and well known in Rock county, who was in the limelight as one of the principals in a slander suit tried at the Janesville municipal court several years ago, is now languishing on a hospital cot in the bridewell, Chicago. Bemoaning his mis-spent life and his return to the downward path to a reporter for a Chicago newspaper, Leighton told his life's story. It began with the wall: "Brother, can a man come back?"

The account as published in the newspaper is tinged with pathos. It follows:

"Don't Call Me Reverend."

"You are an ordained minister of the Congregational church, are you not?" Leighton was asked.

"Don't—don't call me reverend—just Leighton," he begged. "I have disgraced the cloth. But tell me, if you know, can I come back?"

The way down was an easy one. He admitted as much. He looked about him at the "weak sisters" and the wrecks tossed up on the backwash of the city's treacherous night life.

"Once I was a poor fellow who have possibly never had the education and the opportunities I have had—can we come back?"

Eight years ago Leighton came to America, fresh from Edinburgh university. He carried with him a master's degree and plenty of ambition. According to his story, told with many a halting blush of humiliation, he left behind him a young wife for whom he intended to make a home in the new world.

From the Bar to the Pulpit.

He had graduated in law, but he found many obstacles to be surmounted before he could practice in America. He joined the clerical force of a Moody Bible Institute. Then according to his story, he became acquainted with the Rev. John Timothy Stone, pastor of the Fourth Presbyterian church. Dr. Stone talked to him of the ministry. He began his studies and was ordained. Then he went to Edgerton, Wisconsin.

It was Miss Madge Wilson, whose father is a manufacturer there, he said. "We learned to care for each other—very deeply. But there was one thing I neglected to tell her about: Shortly after coming to America I learned that my wife had been permitting the attention of an English army captain."

"Well, the day came when I was informed that she had been representing herself as the captain's wife in London," he went on, and his lips trembled. "I divorced her, and that was the end of things for us. That chapter of my life was closed before I met and cared for Madge."

"I've lost Madge because she learned of my divorce and forbade our friendship," he continued.

"I did not sleep for three nights after our engagement was broken. Then our engagement was broken.

Then frantic because I could not rest, I took a drink of whisky. That first drink was the beginning of the down trip. It was a year ago. I've been steadily—surprisingly—

Can His Faith Take Him Back?

"Is the religion I've been teaching strong enough to carry me back to where I was a man?" he asked.

The silvery, hope-searching man who was almost distorted by doubt.

"One drop of whisky makes me mad for more. It drowns my sorrow. But it drowns my manhood, too. Can you give me any encouragement? Is there any?"

The dreary-eyed wack in a nearby cell laughed shrilly, as if he had paid a high price for his mirth.

"I'm a man," he was mocking.

The silvery, hope-searching man who was almost distorted by doubt.

"I'm a preacher of the way to light, grounded."

"Oh, how humiliating," he cried.

"And I tried to bring others to God and can't trust Him to help me. It's bitter, isn't it?"

Someone started singing. It sounded like a hymn, but the words could not be heard. The man who had gone down the Wide Wrong Way and wanted to retrace his steps, listened a moment.

Then he bowed his head in his arms and cried like a man.

According to the reports from Wisconsin, young Leighton—the only 54 years old—has sued the father of his girl because of whom he stayed and a brother minister, for libel. The elder man, Rev. E. C. Carton, charged publicly. It is said that Leighton was living a lie. The two—the minister and the father—are said to be defendants in a suit for $50,000 damages.

The reporter left the bridewell with those words echoing. Brother, can I come back?—He went to young men from the Bible institute, where Leighton began his life in America, went to visit him. They say they can lead him on the return way.

MOON FOOLING HENS; DAILY EGG AT NIGHT

Janesville Owners Perplexed With Activity of Chickens As Early As Nine Each Night.

Chickens in Janesville advanced several hours ahead of the classic early bird that catches the worm, and evidently gave local owners something to bother about by their evident "turning the clock ahead." So bright was the moon at nine for the past week that many fanciers claim that the hens and roosters and pullets and cockerels think it morning and are bawling their roosts and wandering forth to scratch in the loamy chicken yard.

No amount of shooing, the birdmen can persuade them to the contrary. Indeed, some of the hens were so certain that it was day and not night that they laid their usual daily eggs. The result is the regular variety and textures the jester's pun that "It must be breakfast time."

The question that is, or rather was, on the local owners was: Will the chickens lay again by daylight? If they do it has been proposed that artificial lights be rigged up in the hen houses to beat the egg trust.

REWARD FAITHFUL FAMILY SERVANTS

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS

Washington, Nov. 16.—Recognition for faithful servants and rewards for those who have given up their country service are occupying the attention of Washingtonians, and the campaign, which is being conducted by the District of Columbia Federation of Women's Clubs, probably will result in a nation-wide contest. A prize of $10 in gold will be given to the domestic longest in the employ of a single family. Another prize of $10 gold will be given to the domestic longest in the employ of a family for two or more generations.

Several smaller prizes also will be awarded. Entries in the contest are swamping the Federation's headquarters, one showing a servant who has been in the employ of a single family for as long as 47 years, several between 30 and 40 years and many with 20 years' service record.

Among the entries are four servants of Mrs. John W. Foster, wife of the former Secretary of State, whose combined service record shows 84 years. The entries are accompanied by glowing accounts of the good points of the servants.

So enthusiastically has the plan been received that a number of cities are planning to make a similar effort to promote efficiency by pointing out good examples of industry and devotion in the home. In the contest, 100 women in several cities have written to members of the Washington Federation asking for information about the campaign here.

There are two divisions in the contest—one for those long in service, to whom the gold prizes will be awarded, and the other for those who have been more than five years in one place, and to whom certificates will be issued, signed by the Federation officers.

DISTRIBUTION AND SALE OF RAW MILK TO BE ON NEW BASIS

Producers Called Together to Establish More Efficient Method of Product Marketing.

Members of the Janesville Milk Producers' Association and producers in St. Louis, Joliet and other territories immediately following these strikes have come movements to reorganize the producers' methods of selling their milk. So acute is the situation that dairy farmers assert that delegates will take up this conference from practically every important section of the country. Delegates are hoped for from New York, Ohio, New England, Iowa and Missouri. Every "local" in the Chicago territory has been asked to send a representative.

In sending out a call the Board of Directors of the Milk Producers Association in the meeting today authorized a statement that "The production and distributing of whole milk is undergoing a remarkable transformation. The milk producers of America are finding themselves forced to do the business in larger numbers on account of high production costs, involving land, labor and higher labor charges, higher costs of feeds and water requirements. This condition leaves only two alternatives for the milk producers in areas close to large cities. They must either reorganize their methods of producing and distributing milk, or they must go out of business and leave to the farmers of the most distant sections the task of supplying the centers. The latter course would work a great hardship upon thousands of milk producers and, we believe, would be unnecessary if the production and distribution of milk were placed upon a real efficiency basis."

Milk producers must, therefore, take up themselves the working out of fair and equitable methods for collective sale of their milk. They must also work to get contract prices that will last longer than the customary contract of six months.

Believing therefore that one section may learn from another and that some work can be done, it is agreed upon that, to avoid costly strikes and great loss to producers and suffering to consumers, the Milk Producers' Association of the Chicago dairy district invites milk producers from every dairy district in the United States to meet us December 5 under the auspices of the National Conference on Marketing and Farm Credits to confer on plans looking toward a reorganization of our industry."

Frank T. Holt, Kenosha, Wis., is acting president and W. J. Kittle, Chicago, is secretary of the Chicago Association.

The National Conference on Marketing and Farm Credits is an open forum where delegates from farmers' organizations and agricultural leaders meet each year to work out agreements as to national policies. Advanced reports to officers of the conference indicate that 2,000 delegates representing 2,000,000 farmers will be present at the fourth annual meeting.

GERMAN LURE SEEN IN POLAND OFFER

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS

Petrograd, Nov. 15.—Russia's intention to create a Poland which shall embrace all Polish territory and to maintain it on a basis of autonomy under Russian sovereignty, remains unbroken, says an official announcement issued today, denouncing Austro-German pretensions of an independent Polish state and an effort to sweeten the ranks of the Teutonic armies. The statement reads:

"The German and Austro-Hungarian governments, taking advantage of the temporary occupation by their armies of a portion of Russian territory, have proclaimed the separation of Poland from the Russian Empire and their constitution as an independent state. The object of our enemies evidently is to obtain an addition to their armies. The imperial government regards this action on the part of Germany and Austria-Hungary as a fresh gross infringement by our enemies of the fundamental principles of international law, which prohibit the partitioning of an army-occupied territory, or the forcing of a raised army against its own country. The imperial government regards this action as null and void."

"Russia, since the beginning of the war, has twice previously expressed her views on the entire Polish question. Her intention is to create a compact Poland, uniting all Polish territories, which will favor the right, when the war is ended, of freely regulating their national intellectual and economic life on the basis of autonomy, under the sovereignty of Russia, and maintaining the principle of a 'United States.' This decision of his royal majesty remains unshaken."

You can keep your hair at its very best by washing it with this simple, inexpensive shampoo, which cleanses the hair and scalp thoroughly of all the dandruff and dirt and leaves a clean, wholesome feeling. Just use a teaspoonful of camphor dissolved in a cup of hot water, afterwards rinsing thoroughly with clean water. One finds that the hair dries quickly and evenly, is unstreaked, bright, soft and fluffy, so fluffy, in fact, that it looks more abundant than it is, and so soft that arranging it becomes a pleasure. All scalp irritation will disappear and the hair will be brighter than ever before.

The Los Angeles Music Student gives this from a musical history examination paper: "Beethoven discovered this sonata in four moves. Before this it was a secret. He wrote many piano sonatas for the violin and they were called string quartets. When a piano sonata was for an orchestra it was called a symphony. The Ninth piano sonata he wrote for voices to sing."

SOLDERS GOT RELIEF FROM SORENESS

Boys on the Border Relieved Their Pains and Aches With Sloan's Liniment.

Once upon a time Norman Jones, serving in the National Guard at El Paso, returned to camp after a strenuous 15 mile horse foot-trek and jockeying. He had not been long in active service and his shoulders, back and limbs felt the after-effects of marching.

Remembering Sloan's Liniment, Jones applied it to the sore spots and went to bed. He writes: "I awoke the next morning feeling fine, in fact I had entirely forgotten about the hike and was out for a four-hour walk in the sun as spry as ever."

Private Jones passed the experience along, and many a boy on the border relieved the agony of sprains, strains, bruises, insect bites, cramped muscles, rheumatic twinges, etc., by the use of Sloan's Liniment.

It easily applied without rubbing. At all drugstores, 25c, 50c, and $1.00.

"Aren't you rather previous, Reggie?" she asked from the other side of the tea table. "We are not yet engaged."

"You coquette!" he cried. "You know I can't formally propose to you until I have got rid of Ella."

"How honorable you are!" she praised him, and he could detect no irony in her voice or look.

Vanderlyn stilled an oath. "By Jove, you yet! You can't get away from me!"

"Indeed?" she mocked, though she quivered from the passionate ardor in his voice. To cover her emotion she struggled as only a woman of French blood can struggle: "That is to be seen, Mr. Vanderlyn. And now, if you'll kindly excuse me, I must give a fair share of my time to my other devoted suitor."

She slipped out onto the porch before Vanderlyn could interfere. He muttered a curse and went into the dining room to get one of Dupont's whisky bottles out of the dainty little sideboard.

CHAPTER X.

At the Broken Mountain.

When, at dusk, Dupont rode up to his house, Hardy was still on the cot on the porch. Vanderlyn stood at the far end, puffing hard at a cigar as he watched Dupont approach.

The sound of the trader's bluff voice wakened Hardy from his doze and brought Marie to the door.

"No, not a track; not one single sign nowhere," Dupont was saying to Vanderlyn. "Thought I'd ride in and send out more of the pheasant food."

"Very good," said Hardy. "We must track down the man, else others may follow his example."

The next day the search for the would-be assassin was continued, with no better results than the first. It was the same on the two succeeding days. At last Dupont declared that there was no hope of finding the man. A long lost trail, and Hardy called in the trackers. The period of the search had been as agreeable to Hardy as it had been annoying to Vanderlyn. To check Vanderlyn's woe—or it may have been to redouble his ardor through jealousy—she spent as much time as possible in Hardy's company. She was so gracious that Hardy began to show openly that he thought his might have a fighting chance to win her. This made Vanderlyn furious. Yet he had to restrain himself from any outburst.

Soon on the fourth day Hardy stated at dinner that he was quite himself again and would start on the trip into the mountains the next morning. Redhead had not yet returned to the agency, and Dupont, in his friendliest manner, offered his services as interpreter until the halfbreed should join the party.

When Hardy accepted this offer, Vanderlyn looked at him in his guileless way and remarked in a casual tone: "With the tribe so uneasy, I would like to see you stay here and look after Marie."

Marie objected: "I am a member of the tribe. If Pere is going into the mountains, I am going with him."

"No," cried Vanderlyn.

"I cannot permit that," declared Hardy.

"Oh, yes, you can and will," confidently replied the girl. "I shall be in no danger. If anyone is attacked, it will be you only."

Unobservant of Vanderlyn's look, Dupont paused with a knifeful of food halfway to his mouth to agree with his daughter: "Ain't none of 'em what wants to lift her scalp. She'd be safer in me and you, Mr. Van—which is good as saying dead safe."

"Yet if I should be attacked?" said Hardy.

"If you are, it won't be no general outbreak, Cap. It will be a few young bloods a-laying for you, or maybe just one, like the buck done down at the coulees."

"You see," argued Marie. "You are the only one in danger of attack. If Reggie and I go, as well as Pere, there will be that much less chance of a small party firing at you."

"Very well," acquiesced Hardy. "It rely on your father's judgment. If there is the slightest chance of danger to you, he should know it. But as you are to be with the party, I shall take along a squad of police. Mr. Vanderlyn, you may remain in charge of the agency, if you prefer."

"No, thanks," snapped Vanderlyn. "If you intend to let Marie run the risk of getting into a massacre, I most certainly shall go along."

The girl was unusually gracious to Hardy at supper. At breakfast she divided her smiles between the two with strict impartiality. But when, shortly before sunrise, the party started off up the valley, Hardy began talking about tribal customs with Dupont and became so engrossed in the discussion that he failed to give his usual courteous attention to Marie. Vanderlyn was quick to make the most of the girl's pique. The half-dozen Indian police of the escort were strung out in front with the pack horses. He suggested that it would be well to avoid the dust by getting in the lead.

When Hardy saw the couple ride ahead, he would have ordered them back had not Dupont again assured him that the girl would not be in the slightest danger at any time during the trip.

"You were not so certain of the friendliness of the Indians toward her the other day," remarked Hardy.

Dupont scratched his head. "Well, no. I wasn't. Cap: that's no lie. That there, though, was diff'rent. I'm going now by what Mr. Van says about the feeling in the camps. Wish I felt as sure about you."

"Never mind about me. If your daughter is safe, that is quite sufficient. You say this mine is centrally located with relation to the various camps. We will go to it first and endeavor to get the tribe to meet us there in council."

"At the mine?" mumbled Dupont. "We'll, you're the boss."

The party now entered Sioux Creek canyon and followed the narrow path alongside the torrent until they came to the first small Indian camp. The Indians met Marie and Vanderlyn with friendly greetings, but looked at Hardy with a stolid concealment of ill feeling that, according to Dupont, was the same on the two succeeding days.

At last Dupont declared that there was no hope of finding the man. A long lost trail, and Hardy called in the track-riders.

Dupont. May be more of them. Send the police around to flank—"

Vanderlyn's pinto leaped out of sight. A shot grazed the mare's withers. In a flash he flung up his rifle and fired at the down-peering devilish face. It vanished as he pressed the trigger.

Swift as a puma, he sprang around the mare's head and dashed up the slope, keeping a large boulder in line between himself and his enemy. A bullet came pingaling down over the boulder and passed under his upraised hand.

"No, thanks," snapped Vanderlyn.

GET SUGAR BY CARD IN SWEDEN NOWADAYS

Stockholm, Sweden, Nov. 15.—After this, no sugar may be sold in Sweden except upon presentation of a sugar card. A store-taking throughout the kingdom has shown that some method of controlling the consumption of sugar was decided on. One kilogram (2.2 pounds) will be allowed per month per capita, except for December, when two kilograms will be available.

The sugar shortage has been marked for some months and has lately assumed serious proportions. It has been feared and expected, however, that this fall's sugar harvest would make any state regulation of consumption unnecessary, but it has now been found that, including this year's production, there will be available only 1,000,000 kilograms per month, and that a forced reduction in the production of arrack punch, the second national drink of the Swedes, from a million kilograms are used for consumption yearly. The drinker who consumes three half bottles of arrack punch a day is a punch drinker—consumer, not as much sugar as his sugar card entitles him to buy at the grocer.

WESTINGHOUSE MEN HAVE PAY BOOSTED

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Pittsburgh, Nov. 16.—The pay of between 1,000 and 4,000 office men and other salaried employees of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company was advanced about 12 per cent here today through extension of the bonus system from the shops, where it has been in force for a long time.

By the terms of the extension every employee will receive a bonus amounting to eight per cent of his salary for each month providing total excusable time absent and late, during that period does not exceed six hours incurred on not more than three occasions. An additional four per cent will be given every month to employees, who have not lost any time through absence or tardiness.

The system is made effective from November 1, bringing a total of approximately 18,000 employees, official, clerical and mechanical, under the plan. It was stated that other corporations were watching the innovation with a view of extending it to their plants, for while it were been many wage increases to men employed by the day there have been very few for men who are paid by the month.

To Clean Copper.

Anyone who has ever tried to clean a copper wash boiler after suds have been allowed to stand in it will be pleased to know that kerosene liberally applied with a cloth will clean it. ### MAKING IT PLAIN

The Pure Food and Drug Laws aim to protect the public by preventing mis-statements on the labels of preparations but some people continue to accept "extracts" of cod livers thinking they will get the benefits of an emulsion of cod liver oil.

The difference is very great. An "emulsion" contains real cod liver oil, which has had the hearty endorsement of the medical profession for many years, while an "extract" is a product which contains no oil and is highly alcoholic.

Scott's Emulsion guarantees the highest grade of real Norwegian cod liver oil, skillfully blended with glycerine and hypophosphites. Scott's is free from the false stimulation of alcohol and is endorsed by good physicians everywhere.

WINTER MOTOR RACING FOR VANDERBILT CUP

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE)
Los Angeles, Cal., Nov. 16.—California's winter automobile racing season will open today when the four most important speed contests will get started on the biggest of the nation's road classes—the Vanderbilt Cup race on the Santa Monica course. Two days later the international grand prize will be the goal of the same speeders on the same road.

The entry blanks which have been sent to the most prominent of racing kings carry the information that the two races will be the last of the year when they will have anything to do with the lead standing of drivers in the A. A. A. alignment which carries also the championship awards of medals and $12,500 in prize money.

Los Angeles will jump into the limelight on Thanksgiving day when Axel Park will be running with a 200 mile speed event. Christmas day will see another big race, St. Nicholas, at Dominguez which carry $5,000 in prizes. Two more races are set for the year on this track.

New records are looked for in the Santa Monica race, where Eddie Pullen burned the course for a record of 87.89 miles an hour in 1914, a record which still stands.

HORSESHOES PROVIDE SPORT IN KANSAS CITY

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE)
Kansas City, Mo., Nov. 16.—In one of the most recent horseshoe flinging contests ever recorded, says a Kansas City newspaper, "four records were smashed and a fifth tied Missouri humorists."

Mississ. Free Press, the newspaper declares, was the big star of the competition, the laurel of the "Fierce" being given to far as to explain the stories of horseshoe leaving by stating that the perfection of a horseshoe game is caused by the sacrifice of a pitcher's life; if all pitchers were perfect and did not miss a ball that would be nothing but a dead moment as there is no credit given for two winners when topped by two ringers or perfect play—except in the sacrifice column.

CLEVELAND PITCHERS TO GO SOUTH EARLY

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE)
Cleveland, Nov. 16.—Battery men of the Cleveland American League club will be sent to the spring training camp at New Orleans at least ten days in advance of the other players according to plans announced by Manager T. E. Ralston.

With the jump on the other club a spring break caused our pitchers were ready and barring accidents, I propose to have them in good shape next April," Ralston explained.

Eleven pitchers and three catchers will form the advance squad of the club which is to report about Feb. 20. The men are Morton, Clegg, Peeler, Bellamy, Conroy, Gould, Lamb, Smith, Peeler, Krieger and Pennington; O'Neill, Daly and Reilly, catchers.

YOST NO LONGER "HURRY UP" "EASE DOWN A BIT" HE SAYS

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE)
Ann Arbor, Mich., Nov. 16.—"Hurry up" Yost, coach of the Michigan football squad, finally has failed to live up to his nickname.

Yost recently was watching the first eleven in practice. Quarterback Sparks was tearing through his signals.

"He hurries his team too much," shouted Yost and then he told Sparks to ease up a bit.

"You can't slow down the field you way you could in the old game," said the Michigan football wizard. "With 10 yards to gain you have to take your time."

And so the Yost nickname, won in 1900, received its first setback.

TINKER CLAIMS FIND IN YOUNG FIRST SACKER

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE)
Chicago, Nov. 16.—Joe Tinker thinks he has a prize in 19-year-old Ed. Methmann, and is grooming him for the first sack position with the Cubs in case Vic Sauer's bad eyesight bars him next season.

McGinnis, from Boston and first played in 1914, and in Maine two years ago, Boston signed him last fall and in played last summer with St. Johnsbury, Vt. Tinker heard of his playing and grabbed him after looking him over.

Souliers Brazil Nuts in an eleventh hour awakening made things just right. Millers last night, though beaten surprised everyone when they trounced the Hootch nuts three straight. As a result, the Brazils have elevated themselves into a cyclone pavilion and are now almost in a position to do something at last. Too bad that the schedule ends tomorrow night. KRUPP WORKS EMPLOYES THIRTY REPORT SHOWS Reisen, Germany, Nov. 17.—The war time earnings of the employees of Krupp, are indicated by their savings in the bank established for them by the firm. For the fiscal year 1915-16 the number of depositors in the Krupp savings institution increased by the record-breaking figure of 8,983, and their deposits by 4,881,000 marks. This brings the total number of depositors up to 21,883 and the total savings up to 12,864,892 marks. The number of savings thus is nearly one-half the number of persons employed by Krupp, and three-fourths of the number employed at about the beginning of the fiscal year for which the figures are taken.

Shiverick of Cornell is being used in the game plays that Barrett took the ball in last season, and is showing promise of filling the shoes of an all-round man to cause the triple threat when he goes back in punting formation, and opponents have been unable to stop him thus far this fall.

MCLEAN, PRINCETON'S HUGE TACKLE, IS BIG STRENGTH IN THE TIGER LINE

McLean, Princeton tackle.

McLean, playing right tackle for the Princeton Tigers, is one of the heaviest football stars of the east and a big source of strength to the Tiger line. McLean has been playing a strong game for Princeton and has a fair chance of winning a place on the All-American team.

WILLARD, LOT SPECULATOR, ACCORDING TO THIS STORY

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE)
Chicago, Nov. 16.—Jess Willard, the heavyweight champion, is considering entering the real estate business in Chicago, according to information received by his associates. His contract with a circus has expired and he plans to motor from Fort Worth, Tex., to Chicago, arriving here about Nov. 27. He is reported to be much heavier than when he started out with the circus. He weighs in the neighborhood of 275 pounds in this.

Ann Arbor, Nov. 16.—Soccer footbangers to receive considerable attention from University of Michigan students this year. The boosters for the English sport include 24 students from South Africa, who have a team of their own. It is planned to send this team to the Pacific Coast during the holidays, if a sufficient guarantee can be obtained from coast colleges. Nine of the men on the Michigan team played on the same team in Africa.

The republicans also feel that they will be able to block any appropriation for the shipping board and may be able to put through a bill of their own.

They also feel they may be able to block any attempt to start work on a government armor plant, although they admit that some of their members might rebel against this plan.

Will Rush probability that the next house will be republican, the president is laying plans to get through as much important legislation as possible during the short session opening next month. Measures particularly desired are those to allow American exporters to establish common selling agencies abroad, to enlarge the interstate commerce commission, to create machinery for preventing in future a crisis similar to that which

Old Peloponnesus Now Thrives And Known In Greece as Nauplia

Washington, D. C., Nov. 15.—"It is an interesting coincidence," says the National Geographic Society from its Washington headquarters, "that one of the most important places in Greece where King Constantine's cause has been openly supported by the popular, against the Venetians in their revolutionary movement, is the town of Nauplia, which is Nauplia, the capital of the Peloponnesus, situated on the head of the gulf of Nauplia in ancient Arcos (the district known in ancient times as Peloponnesus)."

The coincidence lies in the fact that Nauplia was the first capital of the modern Kingdom of Greece, and was here that the first Greek president, Ioannis Kapodistria, a native of Corfu, was assassinated, and it was here that in 1862 a military plot was hatched which resulted in the dethronement of King Otto, thus making way for the election of the second son of King Christian IX of Denmark, who became George I, king of the Hellenes, and father of the present ruler.

Nauplia is a charmingly situated town of some 30,000 inhabitants, its salubrious climate and guide books regardless of the offense which such praise may give to the rest of the nation, emphasize as one of the striking features of the municipality the un-Grecian cleanliness of its streets.

"Like the neighboring city of Mycenae, Nauplia reached its greatest importance in the era of myth and legend. By the end of historical times it had waned in influence and population, and the historian Paul Sants, writing in 150 A. D., described it as a 'deserted city.'

"It is probable that Nauplia was founded not by colonists from Argos and Mycenae, the two adjacent cities of the plain, but by settlers who arrived by sea. We seem to suggest this—Nauplia meaning seaman—while the lofty fortified eminence which dominates the harbor takes its name Palamidi, from the foreign Palamedes, a famous hero of the Trojan war and the seat of the cult of Aesculapius, the god of healing, who mythology says was born in Koroni and Apollo on a nearby mount. To the temple in which the priests were physicians and which was supported by the lavish gifts of patients who had been cured. The treasury of this hospital was looted on one occasion by the Roman dictator Sulla, who used the money to pay his soldiers.

"Twenty-nine years later, Nauplia again disappeared as a date line for historic events until a few years ago when the King's party made an armed demonstration against former Premier Venizelos' adherents.

"Nauplia is often visited by tourists not only for its own sake but because it affords an excellent starting point for excursion to the ruins of Mycenae, which legend tells us was founded by Perseus; whose wife was Helen, the Lycian cyclops, and which was given to the Turks, but retaken by the republic of St. Mark in 1686. The Turks were again in control thirty years later.

"Both the Turks and the Venetians labored to found the Palamidi, which is generally held to be a veritable Gibraltar. In their uprising of 1822 the Greeks captured this stronghold, an achievement which greatly encouraged them. Five years later, by the famous victory of Admiral Codrington, in command of a united British, French and Russian fleet over the Turkish fleet at Navarino, Nauplia was relieved at a critical moment in a siege.

"The tragic death of the first president, Capo d'Istria, by gunshot and dagger, at the portal of the Church of St. Spiridion, on October 9, 1831, has been mentioned previously. With the removal of the seat of government to Athens a year following the crowning of King Otto in 1833, and the success of the military plot hatched here against this monarch their activity to many areas. Neither ordinary soldiers or sailors would operate the land locked rivers. Such services as England's Royal Marine Light Infantry and Royal Marine Artillery would serve. These men are highly trained for such work as are their corresponding units in the French service.

The recent official announcement that Sir Archibald Parsons and other marine major-generals have been sent to the front lends flavor to the conjecture regarding the inland incursions.

That the Germans may have ad-justly organized their inland navy is indicated by the appearance of great German marine units on the Somme front. Some of these have been captured.

While the real sea-going navy continues to watch their chance to clash, it is believed not improbable that the inland fleets may yet be the first to figure again in the news dispatches.

FRENCH CANAL NAVY INTO ACTION SHORTLY

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
London, Nov. 16.—Inland navies may figure strongly soon in the war news from the Western front.

Constant pressure on the German front by the Anglo-French, according to the British war experts, must inevitably mean a withdrawal of the German line now lying across the German front at Flanders. This would throw the Allies line near and across some new canals and rivers and bring a new branch of warfare into play.

This new branch would be the inland navies—river and canal cruisers mounting fairly heavy guns and manned by experienced men.

As first announced by correspondents on the French front, General Foch's canal navy has already been in action against heavy German guns positioned on Mount St. Quentin. These units, mostly monitors, operate silently and slowly on the canals skirting the crooked course of the River

Somme. But in the extreme north of France and south of Belgium, it is pointed out, rivers and canals are more spacious and afford real opportunities for maneuvering. These waterways also interlock so that separate units and fleets may extend made without a mishap.
